

When our kids go to school we enter a world of book bags and permission slips, muddy uniforms and parents evenings. From the battles we fight over homework to the tears of pride we shed at their school play, the journey of getting them through school will always have highs and lows. So how can we make sure their school days are good days?

The TLG School Kit is a high-quality video course produced for use with groups of parents and carers over three sessions. It takes an informal and fun look at some great principles for parents to explore as they support their children through school.
