

Despite our technology, wealth, and 21st Century 'know how' we've been humbled by a virus, like an elite Premier League Football Club knocked out of the FA Cup by a team no one has heard of. How did this happen, how can we get rid of it, when will it end, how is it going to affect my future are legitimate questions. At Jesus Shaped People we felt there is another important question: What is God saying to the churches?

This 'liminal space' is a teaching moment and waiting time. The spectre of suffering, death, economic meltdown, loss, sudden change, and acute anxiety has at least temporarily arrested our attention and captured collective imagination. Young people have been especially hit hard by the pandemic. 'Stay Alert to the Spirit' (SATS) is a 7 week resource that includes material/ideas for worship, small groups, sermons, teaching and intergenerational worship to be used in buildings or on line and offered free of charge. SATS is not an answer but a tool to help churches gather around this question; 'What is God saying to the Churches' and allow voices on the margins to be properly heard and be a part of the future.
